

The RONALD R. EDMONDS - CHARLES M. CHENG
MEMORIAL FUND FELLOWSHIPS
2005 – 2006

Edmonds-Cheng grants are awarded annually and competitively to provide financial support for dissertation work to American HGSE doctoral students of color. The fund was established at the Harvard Graduate School of Education by family and friends in memory of Ronald R. Edmonds, a former faculty member at HGSE, and Charles M. Cheng, Ed.D'.75, for their work toward improving schools. Priority is given to proposals whose topics focus on improving public elementary and secondary education for poor children.

ELIGIBILITY Doctoral students whose thesis proposals have been approved by the Committee on Degrees are eligible to apply. Recipients shall be African Americans, Asian Americans, Native Americans, or Latino Americans, and shall be citizens of the United States. Applicants must have a demonstrated financial need.

AWARD One to two fellowships are awarded. Awards vary. In recent years, amounts have ranged from $5,000 to $8,000.
